

Over 91% of principals cite improving instruction as a challenge they face in their role.*

Read how one principal improved instruction across multiple classrooms with TpT School Access.

“My job is to support my teachers. It’s to make sure that they can do their job to the best of their ability for our kids.”

Corey Pace, Principal
Bonita Canyon Elementary School

Bonita Canyon Elementary School (BCES)

-  Location: Irvine, CA
-  School Type: Public K-6
-  Teachers: 20 Teachers
-  Students: 449 Students

At Bonita Canyon Elementary School, principal Corey Pace — like most principals — is focused on improving instruction. While his teachers are given instructional guidance and materials from their district, these materials inevitably don’t have everything his teachers need to provide targeted and differentiated instruction for their students’ diverse needs.

TpT School Access provides a simple solution.

When Pace learned about TpT School Access, he jumped at the opportunity to unlock access to a comprehensive library of resources his teachers could use to meet their students’ individual needs. Knowing his teachers already trusted TpT resources to improve their instruction, Pace recognized that TpT School Access would also prevent his teachers from sacrificing personal funds to give their students what they need.

With TpT School Access, Principal Pace made it possible for BCES teachers to solve their classrooms’ unique instructional challenges.

Across BCES, teachers discovered resources from TpT’s comprehensive library to meet the wide-ranging needs of their learners.

-  In 1st grade ELA: Ms. H used an interactive Google Slides activity to strengthen foundational literacy skills for her struggling readers.
-  In 6th grade Math: Ms. N differentiated learning using activities with different levels of difficulty built in to provide enrichment for GATE students.
-  In Special Education: Ms. O individualized learning for her students with autism by using activities that appealed to their preferred learning modalities.

By bringing TpT School Access to BCES, Pace empowered his teachers with the resources they need to support all their students, improving instruction in every classroom with one straightforward solution.

Ready to improve instruction across your school?

TpT School Access is a new school-wide subscription from Teachers Pay Teachers that gives teachers immediate access to a comprehensive library of engaging, standards-aligned resources. Visit TeachersPayTeachers.com/TpTSchoolAccess for more details.

*Market Data Retrieval. (2017). School Trends: Principals’ Perspectives on Instructional Initiatives and Purchasing Decisions (State of the K-12 Market 2017). Shelton, CT: Goldberg, M.